

THE LAWYER'S COMPASS

Character, Ethics and Trust in Modern Legal Practice

As attorneys, we suffer from ever declining levels of public perceptions of our value to society and trustworthiness, while technology and competition threaten professional opportunities. Our future success and fulfillment reside in learning how to expand trust and confidence in each of us as a practitioner and in our profession in general. John Moore provides insights into the challenges facing the profession and the practical and concrete steps that each of us can adopt to harness the power of trust to drive success in our personal and professional lives and change our profession for the better.

The Lawyer's Compass focuses your attention on the critical interplay between your character and competencies and how they combine to build trust in client relationships.

John Moore is one of those people who you just enjoy spending time with. He is passionate about his life, his work and the help that he can provide to lawyers from all areas of practice. He is a high energy, funny, smart and talented teacher. John's knowledge is practice-proven. He is a partner in the office of Dean, Mead, Minton & Moore in Vero Beach, Florida, where he maintains an active estate planning practice. He is also an actively licensed CPA.

Moore's experience profile includes tenure with Arthur Andersen LLP, and service as an official of the U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development and the Government National Mortgage Association, as well as time in private practice with a large law firm in Washington, D.C. and as managing partner of a small firm in Florida.

John's enthusiasm for the law reaches well beyond his office door. He was the 2010 recipient of the Florida Bar President's Pro Bono Service Award in the 19th Judicial District. He personally provided more than 1,500 hours of pro bono services, and oversaw about 1,000 hours on various projects.

Moore received his undergraduate degree from the University of Notre Dame and his law degree from the University of Virginia.

"[The Lawyer's Compass] turned out to be one of the finest new programs we have discovered for an end of the year offering. The reviews were off the charts. John fully puts into perspective the key elements of professionalism that go hand in hand with client confidence, trust, integrity, good decision making and character, but he also gives an unexpected confidence and happiness to the audience in their chosen profession."
